SUMMARY.

Russia has expressed regret for the Dogger Bank outrage, and has agreed to the punishment of the responsible officers.

Russia has also agreed, pending the investigation of the facts, to detain at Vico the portion of the fleet concerned in the outrage.

Mr. Balfour, in a speech at Southampton, has stated that the lamentable accident was the result of a collision between a Russian ship and a British ship.

Any investigation by the House of Commons will be conducted by the House of Commons and not by a Russian court.

Guarantees have been given by Russia that a recurrence of the outrage will not occur.

THE RUSSIAN OUTRAGE.

A SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT.

HAGUE ARBITRATION CONVENTION INVOKED.

RUSSIAN BATTLESHIPS DETAINED.

THE KING'S FIRMNESS.—THE CZAR'S WISDOM.

The warclouds which hung so low over the peace of the Empire have dispersed. Mr. Balfour, the Prime Minister, in speaking at Southampton on Saturday declared that Russia had agreed to an arbitration convention, invoked under the terms of the Hague Arbitration Convention, inquiring into the outrage on British fishermen on the Dogger Bank by the Baltic Fleet. The officers who are found guilty by this tribunal will be tried by Russia and adequately punished.

Meanwhile that portion of the Baltic Fleet responsible for the firing and any witnesses in the fleet outside those vessels are to remain at Vigo.

In Great Britain the settlement is generally approved. In France and America the agreement is attributed to the firmness of the King in placing law above the appeal to arms.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY MR. BALFOUR.

AN HONOURABLE SETTLEMENT.

ADEQUATE PUNISHMENT OF THE GUILTY.

LONDON, Oct. 28. Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Prime Minister, addressed last night a great meeting at Southampton, and made extended reference to the Russian outrage on British fishermen, and to what the Government had done to secure reparation.

Mr. Balfour said that he believed that this lamentable tragedy would not lead to any further bloodshed. He said that he believed that the Russian Government would be able to secure reparation for the loss of the lives of the British fishermen, and that the Russian Government would be able to secure reparation for the loss of the lives of the British fishermen.

Mr. Balfour then proceeded: "We and Russia have agreed to the appointment of an international commission of inquiry under the Hague Convention to ascertain the facts of the attack."

"The Japanese torpedo boats, which Admiral Rozhdestvensky mentions, are phantom ships, creatures of pure imagination. The statement of the Russian Admiral I enter a most emphatic protest."

"There will be three inquiries into the tragedy, viz., the coroner's inquest, the inquiry by the Board of Trade, and the inquiry by the International Commission."

"The Japanese torpedo boats, which Admiral Rozhdestvensky mentions, are phantom ships, creatures of pure imagination. The statement of the Russian Admiral I enter a most emphatic protest."

ment of Mr. Balfour will be received by the whole Empire and by the civilised world with deep relief and earnest approval.

The "Daily News" and the "Daily Telegraph" equally congratulate the nation upon the settlement.

The "Morning Post" states that the natural conclusion of Mr. Balfour's speech promises action, that Great Britain is determined to have the outrage on British fishermen investigated by an international tribunal on a footing of equality.

Notwithstanding the opinion of America and France, interpreted by its New York and Paris correspondents, the "Standard" declares that the compromise is profoundly disappointing, and protests vehemently against a justly aggrieved party and the agreement to an international tribunal on a footing of equality.

The "Foreign Press." EULOGY OF THE SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 28. The New York and Paris correspondents of the "Standard" show that the credit for the solution of the difficulty with Russia is attributed largely to the influence of King Edward, to his firmness and tact in placing law above the appeal to arms.

German opinion endorses Great Britain's moderation and calm confidence.

SPEECH BY LORD ROSEBURY.

NATIONS' CODE OF HONOUR.

SPONTANEOUS ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF WRONG.

LONDON, Oct. 28. The Earl of Rosebery addressed a meeting at Twickenham last night, and in opening congratulated the King, the Government, and the country upon the settlement of the dispute.

The resolution moved in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth by Mr. Balfour, the Prime Minister, and seconded by Mr. J. C. Watson, the leader of the Opposition, was typical of messages of equal fervour which would have been received from Canada and South Africa had their Parliaments been sitting, and was a proof of what clear and spontaneous loyalty was possible under their present constitution.

DECLARATION BY JAPAN.

NO TORPEDO BOATS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 28. It is officially declared at Tokyo that Japan has neither purchased nor ordered a single torpedo boat in England during the war.

ADVANCE IN CONSOLS.

LONDON, Oct. 28. The price of Consols yesterday was 87 1/4, an advance of 28 1/4 on the price of the previous day.

THE SYMPATHY OF THE COLONIES.

Mr. A. Lyttelton, Secretary of State for the Colonies, speaking at Leamington, said it was a happy sign that the colonies had been so united in sympathy with and hearty support of the Government.

A TRAGIC BLUNDER.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., says the act of the Russian fleet was a "terrible tragic blunder, for which any civilised Government ought to offer prompt reparation."

THE COURT OF INQUIRY.

Article 9 of the Hague Arbitration Convention, under which the inquiry mentioned in the cable is to be made, is as follows:—"

COMMENTS ON THE SITUATION.

It is safe to say that there are some angry Englishmen—or rather Britons—in each great division of the Empire, but after a great deal of reflection, it is difficult to find a single Englishman who is not in sympathy with the settlement.

THE COMMONWEALTH'S SUPPORT.

RECOGNISED BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

THE WAR.

SIEGE OPERATIONS.

RESULTS OF BOMBARDMENTS.

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

A merchant at Shanghai has received from Port Arthur a letter dated the 21st instant, in which it is stated that Japanese shells have done great damage to the fleet and the harbour works.

Preparations are being made for the last struggle at close quarters. The water supply has been cut off, and only limited means and meat remain for food.

The condition of the hospitals is deplorable. Over half the troops of the original garrison are dead, wounded, or sick. The besiegers are pressing closer, and when the end comes there will be a desperate fight. Everything is mined.

A GENERAL ASSAULT.

TWO FORTS CAPTURED.

THE OLD TOWN IN FLAMES.

LONDON, Oct. 28 (3.30 p.m.). Telegrams from Tokyo state that Old Port Arthur is in flames.

A desperate general attack was made by the Japanese on the Russian forts on Wednesday. The Russian batteries on Eastern and Kikwaig were silenced.

Simultaneously the Japanese stormed and occupied Fort Kikwaig-shan (four miles north-east of the entrance, and a mile and a half south-east of Kikwaig) and Fort Sing-shan (2 1/2 miles north by west of the entrance).

CABLE TO THE CONSUL.

AN ENGAGEMENT ON THE RUSSIAN LEFT.

Mr. K. Iwasaki, Acting Consul-General for Japan, received the following cablegram yesterday from Tokyo:—

"Field-Marshal Oyama reports: 'A detachment of our right wing (General Kuroki) on the 27th last attacked the enemy occupying Wai-tou-shan, on the Russian left flank. The enemy consisted of two battalions of infantry and a battery of artillery. Our detachment met with a stubborn resistance, but finally occupied the hill, and captured two machine guns. The enemy continued to fire from the hill, but we captured the position, and then disappeared. There has been no other important engagement.'"

THE FISCAL ISSUE.

CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATIONS.

RETALIATORY POLICY REAFFIRMED.

LONDON, Oct. 29. Fourteen hundred delegates attended a conference of the Conservative Associations at Southampton today.

Mr. H. Chaplin, M.P., proposed a resolution to the effect that the time had arrived for a revision of the fiscal policy, and supporting Mr. Balfour's claim for power to deal with the economic situation.

Mr. Chaplin admitted that he favoured a more advanced view, but it was desirable to promote unity, and the resolution satisfied his section.

An amendment moved on behalf of free traders, and supported by Mr. J. C. Watson, was rejected by a large majority.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Prime Minister, moved a resolution to the effect that the time had arrived for a revision of the fiscal policy, and supporting Mr. Balfour's claim for power to deal with the economic situation.

L. LIONEL PRATT.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

SECOND ARMY HEADQUARTERS, LIAO-YANG, SEPT. 17.

When my companion (Mr. Whiting) and I returned to the war correspondents' quarters at the beginning of September, I found that there was a terrific artillery duel just as night closed in. This indicated that the Japanese were attacking the Russian positions.

A rumour somehow or other got round that our infantry had had a very bad time of it during the day. With the after-effect of knowledge I possess now I know that the rumour was unfounded.

The Japanese were attacking the Russian positions. The Russian positions were being attacked by the Japanese. The Russian positions were being attacked by the Japanese.

VICTORIA RACING CLUB.

SPRING MEETING.

FIRST (DERBY) DAY.

A BRILLIANT GATHERING.

SYLVANIE WINS THE BLUE RIBBON.

SUCCESS OF SYDNEY HORSES AND RIDERS.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTERS.)

Nothing better could be desired than the weather conditions that prevailed on Derby Day, for the sun shone in all its brilliancy from an unclouded sky, illuminating a scene of animation and harmonious colouring that could hardly be surpassed in any part of the world.

Nature and art had mutually assisted in bringing about this beautiful combination, for the numerous rains of early spring had been succeeded by genial sunshine, consequently the colour of the landscape garden had been crowned with success in a marked degree, while the tasteful spring costumes worn by the greater sex completed the picturesque scene.

The extensive lawns and racetrack at Flemington were clothed with a carpet of rich verdure, which was relieved with magnificent borders of marigolds and a wonderful display of roses fringing the racetrack, which were in full bloom. Under the exhilarating conditions of the weather and the beautiful scenery, a wealth of many-blossomed flowers of almost every description of seasonable flowers met the eye in all directions.

The spectators, who were estimated to number over 100,000, were in the best of spirits, and the race was a most successful one. The horses and riders were in the best of spirits, and the race was a most successful one.

ECHOES OF PASHODA

A GRAPHIC NARRATIVE.

The "Figaro" publishes a long account, written by a Colonel Marchand, of the interview with the then chief of the Congolese army, who had been captured by the Anglo-Egyptian forces in 1933, says the Paris correspondent of the "Pall Mall". Colonel Marchand reports that he first learnt of his presence in the hands of the British when he was captured by the Anglo-Egyptian forces just after they had been beaten in the first Sirdar mission. After some correspondence with the British, he was taken to the Sudan with a flotilla conveying 2000 men. On the arrival of the Egyptian forces, the Colonel relates the conversation with the British officer, Colonel Lord. On the arrival of the Egyptian forces, the Colonel relates the conversation with the British officer, Colonel Lord. On the arrival of the Egyptian forces, the Colonel relates the conversation with the British officer, Colonel Lord.

"I was alone on the bridge of the steamer," Colonel Marchand continues. "I saluted him, returned my salute, and coming forward, I greeted him as my superior officer, and complimented me on my mission."
He then said, 'Major, I am the one who has been entrusted by His Highness the Khedive and the Government of Egypt with the task of recovering the territories belonging to France from the Khedive.'"
"And you are Captain Marchand, of the French Army, and I have come here, under the order of the French Government," replied the Major.
"You are the Sirid of the Egyptian Army?" asked the Major.
"Yes, only for His Highness the Khedive and the Government of Egypt," answered the Sirid.
"What do you wish?" asked the Major.
The Sirid replied, "My master, the Khedive of Egypt has abandoned those territories, and had renounced her sovereignty over them." "
"France has never recognised the renunciation," replied the Major.
"What are your intentions, Major?" asked the Sirid.
"I am waiting for instructions from my Government," replied the Major.
"You do not wish to retire after all?" asked the Sirid.
